Fourth Amended
Travis County Judiciary
Minimum Standard Health Protocols
Adopted by the Local Administrative District Judge

In accordance with the Supreme Court of Texas, Forty-Seventh Emergency Order Regarding the COVID-19 State of Disaster (Miscellaneous Docket No. 22-9005)[1] as amended and in accordance with the Supreme Court of Texas, Forty-Fifth Emergency Order Regarding the COVID-19 State of Disaster (Miscellaneous Docket No. 21-9145)[2] the Local Administrative District Judge (LADJ) is encouraged to adopt minimum standard health protocols for court participants and the public attending court proceedings that will be employed in the courtrooms and in public areas of the court building, and has the authority to mandate compliance with those minimum standard health protocols.

The current minimum standard health protocols, in accordance with the Center for Disease Control (CDC) guidelines, are included in the link below:

https://www.cdc.gov.html

The minimum standards will be employed in all courtrooms and throughout all public areas of the applicable court buildings in Travis County including facemasks over the nose and mouth and social distancing, when possible. Persons entering the courthouse shall continue to wear facemasks and socially distance in public areas. When appropriate, judges may relax these standards in individual courtrooms.

Adopted on March 8, 2022 and effective March 14, 2022.
