Pflugerville Schools were recognized with a 2012 Texas Historical Marker, and the dedication ceremony was held Friday, October 12, 2012.

In 1872, a one-room school opened on the Henry Lisso farm. The school later moved to the Carrington Ranch. This and surrounding rural schools often had one teacher for all grades, with instruction in English and German.

In 1907, a two-story white brick school opened in Pflugerville on property donated by George Pfluger. Three young ladies comprised the first graduating class in 1911 by completing the 11th grade.

In 1919, the Texas legislature created the Pflugerville Independent School District (PISD). After consolidation with Highland, Dessau, Center Point and Rowe, a two-story red brick school was built on the site in 1921. Separate campuses were established for African-American and Mexican-American pupils. Pflugerville schools integrated in 1965, and in 1973 a new high school campus was established west of the marker site. Nearly a century after its founding, the PISD serves more than 23,000 students on 29 campuses.
